THE HONGRONG DISPENSABY, HONGRONG.

The publication of this issue commence at 6.15 p.m. The China Mail.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1893 By the shrewd plan of the Chinese in refusing to register under the present oppressive (and probably unconstitutional) Act against them, the Government of the United States is placed in a truly ridiculous position. From the last account of the progress (?) of registration it would appear that the one hundred and twenty thousand blanks prepared, only six had been used! To arrest, prosecute and deport all the Chinese failing to comply with this law would cost millions of dollars for which there is no appropriation, and it may, we should think, be set down as impossible. It is a fine touch of the difficulty will arise almost simultane-International Exposition, to which America, having got itself discovered and settled, welcomes all the world. It has been happily suggested that a relicarsal of the case of the American

f not a wholly appropriate, opening exercise for the Columbian Fair. Meantime many of the best citizens of the United States are protesting against the outrage on honour, decency and Nineteenth Century civilisation implied in the action of Congress. And those who happen not to be too ignorant or too prejudiced to comprehend the issues involved are pointing. out the great loss entailed by such violations of well-known sconomic laws as exclusive legislation implies. In a copy of the Tricomit Ledger recently to hand we find a long communication from the American Consul at Amoy, in which he strives to impress upon Pacific Coast readers the advantages of direct trade between China and the ports on the Coast, avoiding transfers and the serious charges of middlemen. Among the articles of Chinese production which he thinks might be imported direct is the finer grade of tea. All Americans drink tes, but not one in a hundred. knows good tea from bad. American grocers put heaps of tes leaves in their shop windows as samples, exposed to Owners will be Responsible for As George III said to Miss Burney can cup of tea: Was there over such stuff!" Good China tea at first hand would be a great boon to America.

Then there are articles of ornament,

such as tea-root carrings, scapstone

carvings, embroideries, porcelain toys

wood-carving, paper-flowers, &c., which, being very cheap, would find a ready market in the United States. Another ine mentioned is famiture of rattan and bamboo, preserved ginger, limes, bitter oranges, &c., and a wide range of woven textiles such as checked silk, Swatow cloth, grass-cloth, &c., not at present to be found in the general market, but much appreciated where known. Chinese paper, too, would, it is thought, be a distinct addition to the very inferior kinds made in the United States of wood-pulp, which results in a substance very cheap but very brittle. Chinese paper, on the other hand, will ast a century, and would be serviceable for wrappings, for blotters, envelopes, rough-binders, and for drawing. It is further pointed out that Chinese bean-oil, and peanut-oil, of which such vest quantities are annually produced in China, would be well adapted to soapboiling, and, properly clarified by any American chemist, would be excellent substitutes for cotton-seed oil (at present a huge "trust' monopoly), cottolence, mixed lard or poor olive-oil. Chinese bemp is sent to Europeespecially to Great Britain, and resold to America. If exported direct into Tacoma it is said that a rope-walk importing its hemp direct, would pay well from the start, and could profitably undersell the great cordage trust in nearly every home market. Besides this wide range of articles, it is suggested that such goods from the Philippines as sugar, copra, cocoanut oil, tobacco, cigars, bides and skins, might be successfully imported; the sugar underselling that from Cuba and the Hawaiian Islands. Among the articles produced in the United States for which there is a demand, capable of indefinite increase, are flour and kerosene oil, lumber and timber from Oregonthe latter once flourishing trade baving now gone to decay, but susceptible of profitable revival. Canned goods elso would find a growing market, and it is nearly certain that an extensive trade in the articles already mentioned being once began, the list of imports and re-exnorts would certainly, if not rapidly, be extended. Anyone who has intelligent ideas about modern commerce is able to perceive when once it is clearly pointed out, the great advantage of traffic like this, both to China and to the United States. These countries are natural neighbours, and are now near neighbours. They each need the other, and each can greatly benefit other without suffering any What is requisite to this end i Just that by which Confucius affirmed that the State can alone be established. Reciprocity, although not of course merely in the classical sense of that expression. Likin taxes and Geary Laws. must be modified or abolished, and the principles of that International Law which America first many years since communicated to China, must be felt in actual international relations, and not, as now, to remind us of the leading peculiarity of a morning dream. Chinese ignorance and prejudice must be rubbed down and (still harder task) American ignorance and prejudice must sico be rubbed down, by slow attrition. When this shall have been done and no A. S. WATSON & Co., LIMITED. sooner will the mutual relations of these great countries become what they 505 ultimately mind become. At present

Born the largest and the smallest living organisms belong to the vegetable kingdom. The largest plants are the gigantic sequoias of California, which reach nearly. 400 feet in height and 30 feet, and some. times much more, in circumference; and the smallest plant forms are the bacteria, some of them less than one fifty-thousandth of an inch in diameter. Comparing these extremes of size. Prof. J. I. D. Hinds, of Cumberland University, finds that they bear to each other about the same propostion as that of a football to the earth itself. Some of the trees, moreover, are more than 3000 years old, while the duration of life of many bacteris is only an hour, withe tree having, therefore, lived on while 26 millions of gonerations of its invisible kindred have lived and died in the stream at its foot. 報日字華

(Wah Tsz Yat Po.)

THIS paper is now issued every day.

The subscription is fixed at Five Dollars per annum delivered in Hong-kong, or Eleven Dollars Forty Cents including postage to Coast ports.

It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guaranters and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing.

The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,—from Australia, California, Singapore, Pennag, Saigon, and other places frequented by the Chinese,—consider themselves justified in guaranteeing a large and ever-increasing circulation. The advantages offered to advertisors are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of

The field open to a paper of this description—conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in tone— is almost limitless. It on the one hand commands Chinese belief and interest, while on the other it deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners.

Like English journals it contains Editorials, with Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements.

Subscription orders for the above may be sent to GEO. MURRAY BAIN China Mail Office.
